1. Master Your Professional English (إتقان الإنجليزية المهنية)

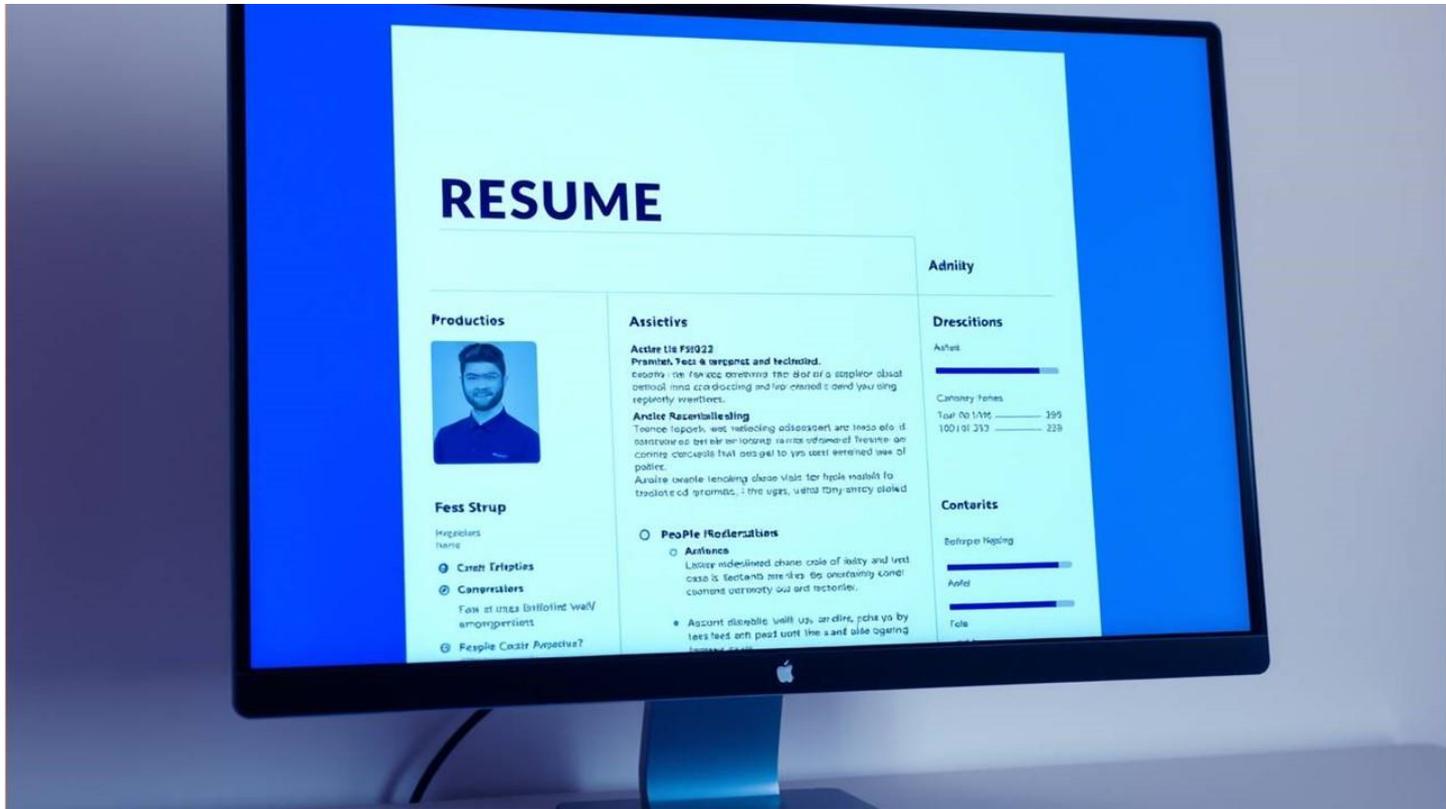

You don't need to be perfect, but you must be able to communicate clearly. US companies prioritize "Communication Skills." Key areas to focus on:

American companies have specific standards for resumes. They often use ATS (Applicant Tracking Systems) to filter candidates. To pass the filter, your CV should be:

- Simple and Clean: Use a professional, one-page layout.
- Result-Oriented: Instead of saying "I managed a team," say "I managed a team of 5 and increased sales by 20%."
- Keyword-Rich: Include keywords mentioned in the job description.
- No Photo: Unlike some regions, US resumes usually do not include a personal photo.

- Have a professional Headshot (Profile picture).

- Write a clear Headline (e.g., Senior Graphic Designer | Expert in Canva & AI).
- Get Recommendations from previous clients or colleagues.
- Set your profile to "Open to Work" for remote roles.

5. Ace the Online Interview (النجاح في مقابلة العمل)

If they like your CV, they will invite you to a video interview. This is your chance to shine. Tips for a successful US interview:

- Research: Know the company's mission and values.
- Environment: Choose a quiet place with good lighting and a stable internet connection.
- Ask Questions: Show interest by asking about the team culture and goals.
